

Working remotely hybrid model

Karen Lowe, Executive Director, People and Culture
October 2022

Working remotely hybrid model

- The Government has announced that the work from home restrictions have been lifted
- As a Monash Health employee, you can/are able to return to your site.
- Our Working Remotely procedure has not changed
- The principle remains: work with your manager to determine the best operating rhythm for your team and your role.
- Remote working is unlikely to be suitable for roles where direct patient/customer service or an on-site presence is a key feature.

Where can I find out more?

- Search for the Working Remotely procedure on PROMPT
- Decisions are at the discretion of your manager and to work remotely you need a Working Remotely Agreement to be in place.
- The agreement template is also on PROMPT and there are a range of resources and tips on the intranet and the COVID-19 website for employees.

